

Be Present, Inc., founded in 1992, is a diverse national network of activists dedicated to building collective leadership for social justice. Deeply grounded in social justice principles and values, the Be Present Empowerment Model® supports individuals, families, institutions, and coalitions to build and sustain lasting change.

Our organizing and movement building work engage people in examining how different forms of oppression based on race, gender, class, sexuality, ability, nationality, age, wealth, and power, among others intersect and sustain each other.

Openly addressing issues and moving through inequalities allow transformative strategies and successes to emerge. The Model® teaches how to address key issues that have an impact on moving forward in action and leveraging successful partnerships for social justice.
